

At least 29 students have been killed and 250 injured after an explosion sparked a stampede at a high school. Students were taking their final exams when an electrical transformer ...

The explosion occurred Wednesday at the Barthelemy Boganda High School in Bangui when power was being restored to an electrical transformer within the school premises after it ...

Bangui, the capital of the Central African Republic, faces significant safety challenges that travelers should be aware of. The city has a high crime rate, including violent crimes such as armed robbery, ...

The Central African Republic is going through a major crisis in Bangui, its capital, where for more than a week, residents have been deprived of electricity and drinking water.

A tragic transformer-related explosion during high-school exams in Bangui, Central African Republic, caused a deadly stampede, leaving 29 students dead and over 280 injured. ...

At least ten students were killed and dozens injured after a transformer exploded during national exams at a high school in Bangui, exposing critical infrastructure failures in the Central ...

The capital of the Central African Republic, Bangui, is facing a prolonged power outage, severely disrupting economic activities and exacerbating water shortages.

On 25 June 2025, 29 students were killed and more than 280 were injured in a crush in Bangui, Central African Republic at Barthelemy Boganda High School during the second day of the baccalaureate exams. The event was triggered by an explosion at a nearby electricity transformer which caused panic among the 6000 students who were taking the exam. The explosion occurred when power was being restored to a malfunctioned electrical transformer on t...

An electrical explosion triggered panic among more than 5,000 students sitting their final exams at Barthelemy Boganda high school, according to local authorities.

The event was triggered by an explosion at a nearby electricity transformer which caused panic among the 6000 students who were taking the exam. [1][2] The explosion occurred when power was being ...

First of all, as an important component of campus infrastructure, the daily maintenance and safety inspection of power facilities should be placed in an extremely important position.

Web: <https://www.rrrprojects.co.za>